DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: On line 7, the "-" is unnecessary. Appropriate correction is required.
2. Claim 7 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. The limitation of "continuously synchronized" fails to further limit claim 1, which already recited the heading sensor as being synchronized.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification mentions both a synchronized secondary heading sensor and a continuously synchronized heading sensor, but the differences between the two are never disclosed.

Art Unit: 3661

5. Claims 17 through 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Claim 17 recites the limitation "translating the relative orientation of the remote control device into coincidence with the orientation of the watercraft". This limitation runs counter to the description of the invention where in paragraph 31 the position of the steering input manipulator relative to the reference heading is used to determine the desired direction of travel. The "relative orientation of the remote control device" is not described and it is not clear how, once the orientation of the remote control device is made coincident with the orientation of the watercraft, to correctly control the movement of the watercraft. How is it determined which direction is the operator's desired direction? The description of the invention seems to make it clear that remote control device orientation shouldn't matter when controlling the watercraft. All that matters is the manipulator's angle with respect to the reference heading.

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7. Claims 1 through 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

8. Claim 1 recites the limitation "the desired direction of travel" in line 15. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

9. Claim 5 recites the limitation "the inclination direction" in line 3. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
10. Claims 2-4 and 6 through 16 are rejected for being dependant on a rejected claim.
11. Claims 1 through 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential structural cooperative relationships of elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the necessary structural connections. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted structural cooperative relationships are: With respect to claim 1, how does the active position of the steering input manipulator determine the desired direction of travel of the vehicle regardless of the orientation of the remote control unit relative to the main axis of the vehicle? For instance, is the desired direction of travel of the vehicle now the angle of the manipulator with respect to the reference heading? The steering input data has the relative position of the manipulator relative to the reference heading, the active position alone does not define the relative positions.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
